LETTER

FROM

THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY,

TRANSMITTING

(In obedience to a resolution of the House of Representatives of 13th of May last,) 1

A REPORT

OF SUCH CHANGES AND MODIFICATIONS OF THE EMOLUMENTS

OF THE

OFFICERS OF THE CUSTOMS,

AS APPEAR TO BE NECESSARY.

DECEMBER 12, 1820.

Read and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

WASHINGTON:

PRINTED BY GALES & SEATON.

1820.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,

December 8, 1820.

SIR: In obedience to a resolution of the House of Representatives of the 13th of May, 1820, directing the Secretary of the Treasury "to report to the House, at the commencement of the next session of Congress, what alterations, or modifications, if any, are required in the several acts of Congress, fixing the fees and emoluments of the collectors of the customs, naval officers, and surveyors of the customs; and, also, a plan for compensating such officers according to the services respectively performed by them;" I have the honor to report such changes and modifications of the emoluments of the officers described in the foregoing resolution, as a due regard to the services which they respectively perform, the expenses to which they are subjected, and to other circumstances calculated to have an influence upon a subject of this nature, appear to render necessary and just. Among these circumstances may be enumerated the expense of living, and the salubrity or unhealthiness of the climate in which they are respectively required to perform their duties.

In reducing the commissions of the large ports where surpluses have, for several years, been paid into the Treasury, regard has been had to the receipts into the Treasury for that year; which may be considered rather above than below the average annual receipts from the customs. It may be proper to observe that the commissions are charged not only upon the gross revenue, but also upon the amount of debentures which are issued and discharged. The disposition which is inherent in human nature to acts of benevolence, and to the exercise of patronage, requires that the commissions and emoluments assigned to the collectors of the principal ports, should be regulated so as to render the practice of economy necessary to secure to the officer the maximum to which he is limited. An examination of the relative expenses incurred during the year 1819, in the two principal ports of the Union, will exemplify the truth of this position.

The emoluments of the naval officers and surveyors, with but few exceptions, are inadequate to the services they are required to render. If they should be required to contribute to the expense of fuel, stationery, and office rent, incurred by the collector, each only one fourth, relief, to some extent, would be afforded.

The act supplementary to the several acts concerning the coasting trade has considerably diminished the fees of the collectors, naval officers, and surveyors of the customs. This act took effect on the first day of July, 1819. The influence which it had upon the emoluments of those officers was consequently confined to the last six months of that year.

To meet any reduction which may be produced in their emoluments, by the operation of this act, it is respectfully proposed that an addition of twenty-five per cent. be made to the fees now required.

I remain, with respect,

Your most obedient servant,

WM. H. CRAWFORD.

The Hon. JOHN W. TAYLOR,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

A STATEMENT of the Revenue collected, on which commissions were allowed at the Treasury, in the year 1819, in the several Districts of the United States, shewing the rate of commission and salary now received, and that which, in obedience to a resolution of the House of Representatives, of May 13, 1820, it is proposed shall be received; and the expenditures incurred by the Collectors, during the same period.
